

— Training for Facilitators —

These sessions were created by professionals for professionals working with youth aged 10 to 13. They are designed to help the environment in which you work to better protect youth from the dangers of sexual exploitation.

Sexual Exploitation Prevention Seminar

The Missing Children's Network has created this seminar to adequately equip the education community with the tools it needs to better understand the dangers related to sexual exploitation. This seminar demystifies the phenomenon of sexual exploitation, the aggravating factors and the protective factors. At the end of this seminar, you will be able to better identify the warning signs and intervene effectively with at-risk youth.

OBJECTIVES :

- ♥ To gain understanding of the reality facing runaways and their risk of falling victim to sexual exploitation;
- ♥ Be able to intervene effectively when you are confronted with a youth at risk.

Length of the Seminar: 2h

« The SHINE training over exceeded my expectations, and provided me with a turnkey kit, as well access to engaging and up-to-date tools. I greatly appreciated the approach used, which varied between interaction with others as well as the proposed content. I recommend that all those involved with children and teens attend this training. Being more informed and well equipped can help us all contribute toward the prevention of youth runaways and sexual exploitation. Thank you to the Missing Children's Network and their dedicated staff for this wonderful opportunity and for your social involvement. »

SHINE Facilitators Training

The Missing Children's Network created SHINE, a training program to adequately equip the educational community to deal with the issue of sexual exploitation of youth. With the return of sex education curriculum in the classrooms, the Missing Children's Network would like to share its knowledge and expertise with educators and provide them with the necessary resources that will support them as they engage youth in a positive discussion regarding consent, self-image, the importance of setting boundaries, as well as developing healthy and equalitarian relationships. Participants will be coached and supported by the Missing Children's Network team during and following the workshops. Our team is fully committed in ensuring that every participant completes his/her training with the utmost confidence and is well equipped to introduce SHINE to youth in their respective communities.

OBJECTIVES :

- ★ To gain understanding of the reality facing runaways and their risk of falling victim to sexual exploitation;
- ★ To be aware of the issues that most closely affect young people;
- ★ To have all the necessary tools for the animation of the SHINE workshop;
- ★ To address more sensitive areas of those issues in a positive non-stigmatizing way
- ★ To be able to intervene effectively when you are confronted with a youth at risk

Length of the Training: 3h

*This training can count for 3 hours of continuous professional development activity eligible to the Ordre professionnel des sexologues du Québec.
